

The following is the basic protocol used with these powerfully effective healing tools.

I have chosen the essential tools and essences required. Of course you can incorporate additional flower essences and other healing tools to expand your set.

- How to set up a healing environment Create a quiet spot where you won't be interrupted by phone calls or other folks passing thru. I like to be able to have a closed door environment. You can provide a chair &/or massage table. Have enough space so that you can walk around on all sides. I also have additional blankets in case the person wants to cover themselves for warmth or to place under their feet or knees. (for animals: have them lie down)
- Setting the intention (by the one seeking help) Have the person receiving the treatment hold a BioTranslator and BioAmplifier in their hands and ask for what they want to receive in this session. (for animals: have their owner state the situation)
- Stating your support (by the one activating the session) Now you will hold the BioTranslator and BioAmplifier in your hands and ask to be shown how to assist in this healing session.
- Asking for participation from "Spiritual Help". Then ask the person seeking help if there are any special deities, saints or angels they would like to invite.
- Add gratitude Speak from your heart and give thanks to all involved, including the energies from the earth, heaven and stars.
- Use the GemComb as shown in the video, and ask that your energy remain separate from the one receiving the treatment because you will be in the midst of their "energy bubble".
- Pause and use your intuition to determine if it's now time to start and how to proceed. Sometimes it might feel as though a special energetic environment is being created. I like to step aside and wait to see when it feels right to begin.
- Here are the tools you will using:
The Glory B Flower Essence These bottle(s) can be placed next to the person or animal or you can use them orally with water or topically.
The Glory B Trio of small energetic bottles are to be placed next to the person or animal and left unopened when used.

BioGenesis Tools are used in their usual ways.

When using the BioOscillator for animals say this command "Return to your natural state! Light is triumphant!" Limit the use the Full Rays counter-clockwise Wheel of Genesis to 5 - 10 minutes.

The GemComb is used to comb the person's aura, place in their hand or next to their body. Use the Snowflake obsidian GemComb for animals.

Usually there will be times to step aside while the "Spiritual Visitors" are doing the work. (This can vary from a few minutes to half an hour). Sometimes while working with someone I step aside in the same room or even go to another room, setting a timer for 15 minutes before returning. Animals are "quick to respond" to this type of energetic healing. Watch for their subtle physical movement to give you clues of where to work and when the session is complete.

Check-in towards the end. When I have the sense that the person may be complete, I ask "how are you doing?" If they are feeling tense I continue using the tools. When they seem to be finished, I explain that a lot of things have happened and that they need to realize that they are in a new place.

Give thanks out loud to those that have helped, including the energies from the earth, heaven and stars, and the Spiritual Visitors.

It is normally recommended to do a series of 3 of these sessions at least 1 week apart. If there has been a serious incident, sessions can be done daily. Realize how easy this treatment is to perform, just keep an open heart & you will be guided what to do.
